

Identify My Values

Your values shape how you prioritize your time and energy, and importantly, your money. Answering these questions can help you identify your values.

What are the people, things, and places that matter to me?

What values do my answers represent?

